

1. When the app is resumed after the device wakes from sleep (locked) state, the app returns the user to the exact state in which it was last used.
2. When the app is relaunched from Home or All Apps, the app restores the app state to its previous state.
3. When the app is resumed from the Recents app switcher, the app returns the user to the exact state in which it was last used.
4. On Back keypresses, the app gives the user the option of saving any app or user state that would otherwise be lost on back-navigation.
5. Don't use tabs to move through sequential content that needs to be read in a particular order.
6. When tabs are attached to a component, they should move as a single unit.
7. When switching between tabs, FABs should not disappear and then reappear.